OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY.

Have you watched its marvelous growth? If not, The Weekly Enquirer wants to study the strides it has made. The first census of the United States was taken in 1790. Since then every succeeding ten years. The result has been as follows:

Year.	Population.	Year.	Population.
1810.....	7,239,881	1860.....	31,443,321
1820.....	9,633,822	1870.....	38,558,371
1830.....	12,866,020	1880.....	50,155,783
1840.....	17,069,453	1890.....	62,822,250
1850.....	23,191,878

Here you have the figures of a basis of calculation. The problem now is: What will be the population of the United States, excluding recent acquisitions. The result is usually announced in July of the census year.

The WEEKLY ENQUIRER is anxious to engage all in a study of their country. To this end it will distribute cash amounting to $25,000, for solutions received of the population of the United States Census, as follows:

To the nearest correct guess received.....	$3,000.00
To the second.....	1,500.00
To the third.....	750.00
To the fourth.....	500.00
To the fifth.....	250.00
To the sixth.....	200.00
To the seventh.....	150.00
To the next 10, each $100, amounting to.....	1,000.00
To the next 50, each $50, amounting to.....	2,500.00
To the next 100, each $25, amounting to.....	2,500.00
To the next 500, each $10, amounting to.....	5,000.00
To the next 1,500, each $5, amounting to.....	7,500.00

2197 cash presents amounting to $25,000.00

In case of a tie, money equally divided.

Every guess on the above proposition must be accompanied by a year's subscription to the WEEKLY ENQUIRER.

You can guess as often as you care to inclose subscription price to the WEEKLY ENQUIRER.

This contest will close a month before the result of the census will be known and officially certified by the Director of the United States Census at Washington, D. C.

Subscription price for the WEEKLY ENQUIRER (including guess) is only $1.00 a year. Eleven copies and eleven guesses for $10.00. For full particulars see WEEKLY ENQUIRER.

About This

In addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are communicating with

A Woman

A woman whose experience in treating female ills is greater than that of any living person, male or female.

She has fifty thousand such testimonial letters as we are constantly publishing showing that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is daily relieving hundreds of suffering women.

Every woman knows some woman Mrs. Pinkham has restored to health.

Mrs. Pinkham makes no statements she cannot prove. Her advice is free.

Diarrhoea at Santiago.

Charles H. Marks, while acting in the capacity of nurse at the Second Division Hospital of the Fifth Army Corps at Santiago de Cuba, used a few bottles of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for diarrhoea and found it to work like a charm. For sale by R. C. Hardwick.

A woman is never really happy after she gets to an age when she has to be nice to men.

Pimples on the face are not only annoying but they indicate bad blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them by purifying the blood.

FATAL mistakes are made by those who do not heed the earlier symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble that often end in Bright's disease or diabetes. When Foley's Kidney Cure makes the kidneys well, how foolish it is to DELAY. Sold by Anderson & Fowler.

The vast majority of unhappy marriages are born of sudden impulses.

For two years Ira W. Kelley of Mansfield, Pa., was in poor health on account of kidney trouble. He consulted several physicians and spent considerable money for medicines without obtaining relief until he tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and now writes "I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of aiding others."

Among the hardest troubles to bear are those that seem needless.

Would Not Suffer So Again For Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. WILSON, Liverman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. OLLIE JAMES.

Speech Delivered by Him at the Louisville Convention.

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Democrats: It is certainly an honor to be selected to preside over such lovers of Bryan and Goebel, who stand for law and order against assassination and murder. (Applause.) In this contest the Democratic party is getting together in harmony, and you mean by your action here in this convention to serve notice upon the Republican party that your electors nevermore again shall answer to the call of Republicanism in your Electoral College. You have accepted the challenge of the single standard—that dollar of the rich alone, that is scant and daily growing less; you have taken up labor's cause, and advocate that bright and shining silver dollar at 16 to 1 against the world and those that fight against it. (Applause.) You have accepted the challenge of the trusts, combinations and monopolies, and you have taken up labor's cause, and you say to them that you shall not lower the price when the farmer has to sell and raise it when labor has to buy; and we intend to force you into that same open competition that the farmer meets when he sells his grain and the laborer meets when he sells his toil. Not only that, but in this campaign the Democracy has reason to be proud because the courts of this Union, from the Circuit Court of Kentucky to the Supreme Court of this nation, have found the cause of Gov. Goebel and the Democracy so just that a partisan court could not overturn it. (Applause.) There was but one lonely dissenter to that opinion in the greatest court of this Union, and that man, Mr. Harlan, was appointed by Rutherford B. Hayes, and I presume he learned his lessons of honor and honesty from that Administration. But I say to you that in this battle for law and order I had rather sleep like poor murdered Goebel in that lonely graveyard, amid the roses and with the prayers of those that loved him, than to be a fugitive from my State, charged with murder, breathing Indiana air. (Great and prolonged applause.)

These advocates of civil liberty—the civil liberty they advocate is the uncivil right of every mountain libertine to shoot down a Democratic candidate for office. (Applause.) The name of Goebel, my friends, will live as long as law has a champion and assassination has an enemy. We want all the Democrats to come back into the fold. We want you to unite with us to redeem Kentucky. We, standing four square to all this earth, invite you back, willing to wrestle even with you as Jacob did with the angel; but standing boldly in the forefront, we say to you that we mean to reaffirm the Chicago platform, and to nominate that giant of giants, that master American of the century—William J. Bryan. (Great applause.)

The Birthplace of Our Independence.

A visit was paid the other day to the old Independence Hall, where you may see the portraits of the signers, the chairs in which they sat, the inkstand that they used and a lot of other things, chief of which, of course, is the Liberty Bell with its immortal crack. It was a hot summer day, but the old place that has been made as new was cool—so cool that even the fat policeman who guards the medals that are for sale and the registry book wherein visitors inscribe their names looked as comfortable as the proverbial cucumber.

"How many visitors do you have in the course of the day?" was asked.

"Oh, they are coming and going all the time—they'll average about three hundred a day, I guess."

"And on the Fourth of July?"

"It's about the same as at other places—quite a number in the morning, but hardly anybody the rest of the day. So far as that goes, we had just as well shut up after twelve on the Fourth."

So here it is in the very home of the Day.

Then a look at the book! Visitors from every part of the world, from every State in the Union, from every country and city, a wide area of land and humanity.—Saturday Evening Post.

SHOOTING AFFRAY

At Clay Results In the Death of a Business Man Not Involved In The Fight.

Dixon, Ky., June 24.—In a shooting affray between Jack Raybourn and John McGill, at Clay, a N. Skinner was killed by a shot fired by Raybourn. Skinner was one of the most prominent business men of Clay and was a member of the Knights of Pythias and Masonic lodges.

The trouble came about by McGill and Raybourn wrestling in the morning, both being intoxicated. They got into a general fight and Raybourn bit a piece out of McGill's neck. Both men armed themselves and Raybourn went to Skinner's livery stable, where McGill was employed, and opened fire on him.

The first shot struck Skinner in the head, from which he died in about two hours. Skinner was putting some harness on a horse at the time, and had a collar and bridle on his arm when killed. The horse was hit twice. Neither of the men shooting was hit. An attempt was made to arrest Raybourn by a citizen, but being a powerful man, he fought his way out of the stable and made his escape. McGill was arrested and placed under bond. A posse is after Raybourn, and he will probably be arrested to-night.

KILLED HIS SWEETHEART.

Jealousy Causes a Terrible Tragedy Near Livingston, Ky.

Livingston, Ky., June 22.—Jealousy last night caused a terrible tragedy at Tunnel No. 5, a mile north of this town.

McPherson is a railroad employee. He had become infatuated with the Arnold girl, and, finding in her possession a letter from another man, is said, became furious in his jealous rage.

The girl's mother interfered, when McPherson shot twice at her and then shot the girl as she stepped between him and her mother. McPherson escaped.
